THE KNICKERBOCKER LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW YORK,

Having established a Branch Office in this city, are now prepared to leave Policies upon the Life. Endowment or Ten Tear Plans, effering every consistent advantage to insurers.

Particular attention is called to their Ten Tear system, which penults a person to pay for he insurance, in ful, in ten annual or forry quarterly payments; after which the party so insuring reserves a pass-up pelley and has no hing surfair to pay.

cerves a passion policy and has no ming furnity to pay.

This plan also has the advantage of being strictly men-forfeitable. Thus, although in case of the death of the party searcing, his p lay would be good for the face, or full amoust, yet in case of discontinuing his payments, he receives a pro rate policy, in eract secondance with the time he has paid. As for example, a man heaving for $5,000 if he has made two annual pryments thereor, wishes a discontinual; he will receive a raid up pulley of two-stanks of $5,000; if four years, $5,000 and so on a water peace, $1,000; if four years, $5,000 and so on a water properties throughout the entire ten years. mass proposition throughout the entire ten year rolleles issued and all husiness transacted upo most favorable terms by

The fellowing is from the Richmond Disputch of the 17th inst: The fall of Fort Fisher we presume closes the port of Wil-mington. It commands the main entrance to Cape Fear river, and will, we fear, en-able the enemy to blockade the river complately, giving them as it does, a lodge-ment on the left bank. Fort Caswell and several other works still guard the southra channel of the river.

Fort Fisher is thirty miles below Wilmington. Some regard the fall of Fort Fisher as a disaster, while many are disposed to consider it a blessing in disguise. The latter, who are, it must be said, a numerous and sensible class, contend that Wilmington, as a sea-port, has, from the beginning, done us more harm than good. They say goods imported through it have been of little good to us, while millions of dollars' worth of our cotton has thence found its way into the hands of our enemies. It is

FROM WASHINGTON. New York, Jan. 19. The Secretary of the Treasury, in a letter to Hon. E. B. Washburne, Chairman of the House Committee on Commerce, says the numerous expedients resorted to reently to evade the custom laws and deraud the revenues, especially on our extended northern and northwestern frontier, renders additional legislation highly deirable. He submits the draft of a bill to revive part of the act of March 3, 1815, which expired by limitation in 1817, since which time there has existed no authority for searching carriages and other land ve-hicles other than those crossing our frontier. It is proposed to revive this author-ity, and to extend the provisions of the 68th section of the Collection Act of 1799, authorizing the searching of houses, &c., under proper judicial warrants to inspec-tors. This is believed to be necessary as many of the collection districts are so arge that the delay consequent upon procuring the special authority now required from collectors, naval officers and surgeons, for sueing out search warrants, to be executed at points remote from the port of entry, has frustrated the objects sought. The Secretary thinks it would add material to the efficiency of the law, if the vehicles and beasts of burden, with all that appertains to them, were subjected to for-feiture as is provided by the bill. The other provisions regarding the giving of testimony of officers and others interested in forfeitures, are believed to be necessary to an efficient execution of the revised laws.
